Schedule C: The Property You Claim as Exempt

4/22

Be as complete and accurate as possible. If two married people are filing together, both are equally responsible for supplying correct information. Using the property you listed on Schedule A/B: Property (Official Form 106A/B) as your source, list the property that you claim as exempt. If more space is needed, fill out and attach to this page as many copies of Part 2: Additional Page as necessary. On the top of any additional pages, write your name and case number (if known).

For each item of property you claim as exempt, you must specify the amount of the exemption you claim. One way of doing so is to state a specific dollar amount as exempt. Alternatively, you may claim the full fair market value of the property being exempted up to the amount of any applicable statutory limit. Some exemptions—such as those for health aids, rights to receive certain benefits, and tax-exempt retirement funds—may be unlimited in dollar amount. However, if you claim an exemption of 100% of fair market value under a law that limits the exemption to a particular dollar amount and the value of the property is determined to exceed that amount, your exemption would be limited to the applicable statutory amount.

Part 1: Identify the Property You Claim as Exempt

Case No. 6:23-bk-15163-WJ

Attachment to Amended Schedule C

Debtor's Schedule "C" is being amended at the insistence of the Chapter 7 trustee, who has demanded that Debtor state a dollar amount for each category exempt property, even though applicable law places no dollar limit on certain categories of exempt property. See, e.g., CCP §704.020. The only material difference between Debtor's original Schedule "C" and this amended Schedule "C" is that Debtor has stated the amount of her homestead to be $635,000 rather than $600,000.

With respect to categories of exemptions marked "estimated," the amounts listed are Debtor's best estimate of value and not a representation or warranty of the actual collective value of such items in that category. Debtor has provided to the trustee photos of items exempted under CCP § 704.030 and the trustee's agent has inspected and video recorded the items exempted under CCP § 704.020.

Debtor declares that, as to the items exempt pursuant to CCP § 704.020 (her household furnishings, appliances, provisions, wearing apparel and other personal effects):

1. Are all ordinarily and reasonably necessary to, and personally used or procured for use by her and/or the members of her family at her principal residence.
2. All are ordinarily found in households.
3. None are of extraordinary value as compared to items of the same type found in other households.
4. No particular item has a value of more than approximately $1,200, which is the value Debtor ascribes to her most expensive piece of furniture (a sofa which she purchased new for about $4,000) and her exercise bicycle (which she purchased new for about $2,500).

Debtor estimates that the items she has exempted pursuant to CCP § 704.030 (her jewelry, heirlooms, and works of art) have a collective value of about $4,500. However, Debtor reserves the right to claim up to the full statutory limit ($8,725) if her estimate is mistaken and the collective value of such the collective value turns out to be higher.
